FORMER RICHLAND COUNTY RESIDENT ARRESTED IN CHARLOTTE, NC ON TAX CHARGES

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 17, 2015

Gary McFadden was arrested Tuesday afternoon on four counts of income tax evasion.

If convicted, McFadden faces penalties of up to $10,000 and/or up to five years in prison per count. McFadden is accused of providing false W-4 information to his employer and not filing income tax returns from 2008 through 2012.

McFadden, now a resident of Charlotte, NC, was brought back to South Carolina to face his tax charges. He is being held in the Alvin S. Glenn Detention Center pending a bond hearing.

The Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department assisted in locating and arresting McFadden.

His arrest is the fourth in the last week on tax related charges. As a reminder, individual income tax returns are due April 15, 2015. For more information regarding individual income taxes, please visit our website.
